Characteristics

Description	Evidence
a...understand the importance of learning from mistakes, and build up intellectual and emotional resilience	Over lockdown I have had a lot of time and I decided to start baking, I have tried many things like cakes biscuits and scones. Of course I have made lots of mistakes which caused a waste of products but over time I have become better and I am still going to persevere and carry on.

b...exercise intellectual curiosity, and work independently, creatively and inventively	I take part in a gymnastics club and I have persevered to learn new skills. Recently I have been practising at home as it is closed due to lockdown. Although my club is closed I still make time at least 3 times a week to practise my skills and start to learn new things. Some skills I have learnt is a back walkover and a front walkover ☺
c...demonstrate an entrepreneurial spirit	Recently, one of our neighbour's dad passed away, he was 93. His son was very heartbroken; he was a very bubbly and friendly person so most of the street were close to him. So my sister and I decided to go around the street raising money so together we can buy a gift for him. He was very pleased. =)
d...reflect on my achievements, revise and improve my ideas	At school I have had many tests in science and maths and I was not really pleased with my result. In our school we have something called the 4Rs and they stand for resilience, respect, reflectiveness and resourcefulness. On the weekends and any spare time I get I try revising over my topics and I have reflected on what I got wrong so the next test I do, I can do better.
e...use strategies for effective learning, such as the ability to memorise, summarise, rephrase and review	Sometimes when I revise not all strategies work and I have to find another effective way of learning, Over the past few weeks in English we have been working on a speech and I have been trying my best to do all the research and put as much as effort as I can.
f...practice reading for enjoyment, accompanied by high levels of critical thinking	In my spare time I really do enjoy reading with music of course! The book I am reading at the moment is Percy Jackson and the Lightning Thief, my most loved theme of books would be horror and adventurous as well as romance. Last year before lockdown I joined a reading club in school and I really enjoyed a lot of the sessions, although I did not win some of the competitions I am really pleased that I got the chance to take part in a club.

g...am an excellent researcher	As a researcher; in the subjects English and Geography I have been doing a lot of research about protecting the planet so to stop littering and about rainforests. Both are about how humans are damaging the environment and how we need to start to make a change. Did you know that 1 million marine animals are killed each year because of litter ?!
h...am an exceptional learning role model to members of the school community, at all ages, and levels.	I moved to Sir Jonathan North in year 8, however, in my previous school I took part in being school council and I really enjoyed this opportunity as I got to take part in discussions which made changes to the school, for example starting to put compost bins around the school which improved the environment and is saving animals so they do not choke on our litter. Also I got to raise money for a charity around the school which was for people with cancer. I really did enjoy being school council and hopefully in the future I get to do so again.
