DAMAGED GOODS SERVICES

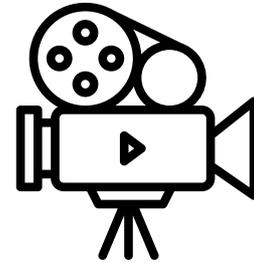

DAMAGED GOODS TALK

The damaged goods talk is a 45-minute, interactive journey designed with the purpose of developing character and inspiring internal growth within the students that attend the session.

The talk focuses first on building a connection with the learners, a connection that they can relate to, that approaches them on their level. With this in mind, I use comedy, poetry, music, popular culture, sports and have even had a pair of customised Nike trainers designed for a powerful analogy to help close the talk.

- To provide students with an understanding about the spectrum of mental health, both positive and negative
- To destigmatise mental ill health through providing information about the effects of trauma, especially in childhood
- To inspire an internal conversation with the learners, by helping them connect the dots between the events, beliefs, and behaviours in my story that affected my mental health
- Provide learners with an insight into what life can be like for an individual who has been through trauma and/or is suffering from mental health
- Pull students away from the material façade of western social media led success and instil an understanding that growing internally/developing your mindset/overcoming challenges/developing healthy habits are just as, if not more important than financial gain

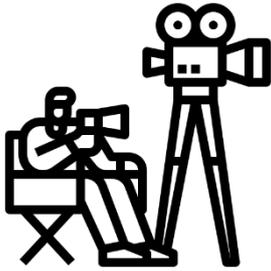

WELL-BEING VIDEO

The 'Well-being Video' is a 10-to-15-minute video which gives learners and staff a brief insight into my story, but focuses on answering 5 key questions:

- What is our Well-being?
- What makes up our Well-being?
- What actions and activities help support the areas of my well-being?
- How did I begin to look after my Well-being when I was so unwell?
- Why is looking after our wellbeing so important for our future?

The video uses contemporary digital imagery and video editing to replicate trends seen across social media, to help keep learners engaged and to also enhance the impact of the video.

Great to use as an ice breaker before meeting students with the face-to-face talks!

FILM PRODUCTION

Ending the stigma around mental health within schools is extremely important, as it enables both staff and students who may be struggling to use the support services you guys have invested in.

One way we achieve this, is by directing, filming, and creating professional short films that can then be used as a valuable resource in assemblies or form times.

Whether a documentary-style piece that features personal experience, or playful, scripted short films that feature both staff and students in collaboration. This can be a great tool to use for letting those who work and attend your organisation that it really is okay to talk about mental health.

We have a team of videographers, who have produced digital media and short films for the likes of Adidas, JD, G-Shock, Reebok and Reiss.

STAFF WEBINAR

The webinar is a service designed specifically for staff to achieve a deeper understanding of what the journey of a child suffering with mental health/unresolved trauma can look like in an educational environment.

I also explore practical tools which can be implemented into schools to help end the stigma around mental health, creating a safe platform for conversation.

- To give staff an understanding of the journey through education for a learner who has experience trauma/suffering from mental health
- To provide staff with an insight into the behaviours caused by my trauma which went unnoticed by my teachers
- To inspire a deeper internal conversation in staff that may help them identify beliefs/behaviours effecting their well-being from past life events

TESTIMONIALS

Jodie Emmerson – Behaviour & Attendance Manager – Ebor Academy Trust

'I thought this was one of the most insightful and useful mental health training webinars I have had as a professional. Thank you very much Danny, well done.'

Danny Maher – Director – Aspire Behaviour Management

'Fantastic and very inspirational Dan! Understanding all behaviour as a form of communication is key and we all as practitioners need to remember this and ensure we delve deeper to support children and young people. Thank you!'

Ruth Crook – N/A

'One of the most 'real', helpful and meaningful training sessions I have been to - Daniel spoke so clearly and explained each emotion / situation with great reflection / understanding / self-awareness. I hope this helps many as we use CPOMS and other recording systems to support children well. Very much appreciated - thank you for a thorough, excellent and honest presentation.'

Mrs. Jayne Roberts – Deputy Headteacher / St. Gabriel's RC High School

"Daniel was a refreshing input into our Well-being Wednesday. He was perfect with his approach and manner to our young people and certainly got everyone talking about Mental Health.

The presentation was pitched at the correct level and was so inspiring and relevant. We have engaged with Daniel to do some follow up work. The problem will be keeping the numbers of pupil to a limit as they all want to be involved!

Please see some of the comments from our young people. I can fully recommend Daniel to engage and be a great role model for young people."

PUPIL FEEDBACK

'He describes his life experiences very well and gives a lot of useful information which can help others out. I think videos like this really help the community with mental health.'

H.A

'It gave me a greater understanding about mental health and well-being, and I liked the fact he wasn't a big celebrity and that he was just a regular person.'

S.G

'I feel that the video was quite interesting and useful to me and other people as it raises awareness about the things that we need to do to look after ourselves in our mind and our body. It teaches us about mental health issues that Daniel has faced and other things that people may have faced.'

D.W

'I think that this video is showing how much people can change and that no matter how bad you get there is always a way to get your life back together and that if you work hard enough you can succeed.'
